

2016 CNVC CERTIFIED TRAINERS AGREEMENT

Preamble

This agreement is intended to support shared understanding about ways in which the Center for Nonviolent Communication and CNVC Certified Trainers relate to one another.

CNVC is committed to the vision of a critical mass of the world's population using Nonviolent Communication (NVC) to resolve differences peacefully. A strong community of qualified trainers plays an important role in the realization of this goal.

CNVC has two long-term goals for the certification process:

Create a community of trainers who want to work with CNVC to fulfill our vision.

Ensure that the next generation and succeeding generations are taught NVC in a way that preserves and protects the integrity of the NVC process.

A. Mutual Ethics Code

Our Goal

Our goal is to help create a world where people can meet their needs in peaceful ways. We value a working and training environment of safety, compassion, respect, and mutual connection for everyone with whom we come in contact. Therefore we want all our operations, activities, and program designs to be based on mutual human needs in harmony with the consciousness of NVC. We would like to offer the vision that exchanges of money, services, labor, and materials are requested without demand or coercion, and with an effort to make this work available to all.

Our Understanding of Quality

The more CNVC Certified Trainers value NVC consciousness in their teaching and living, the more effective we will be in reaching our goal of creating a more peaceful world. In order to live NVC, we would like trainers to stay in an ongoing process of personal development, supporting each other by exchanging materials, giving feedback and offering empathy, and exploring ways to develop new training designs and materials.

Our Respect Towards Participants

We support a relationship between CNVC Certified Trainers and participants based on values of mutual trust, safety, and respect. We are aware that in the course of an NVC training, participants may feel an unexpected level of emotional intensity or a deep sense of intimacy, and may become unusually vulnerable, especially in regard to the possibility of a sexual relationship. We would like trainers to act as stewards of the trust that workshop participants place in them.

Our Intention to Stay Connected

In an effort to maintain our mutual ongoing relationships, anyone who believes that he or she has not been treated in harmony with NVC consciousness relating to the CNVC organization may contact the CNVC office. A representative of CNVC will contact all those involved and support a dialogue toward clarity and reconciliation.

5. Participate in an NVC community:

- Participate in regional or other NVC communities
- Accept that conflicts may arise, and to be willing to work to resolve them; to find resources if needed (other CNVC trainers, mediation, etc.) for dialogue; to be able to demonstrate "living the process" -- that is, to demonstrate the willingness to search for connection, the clear intention to resolve conflicts.

- Each year, affirm the CNVC Certified Trainer Agreement
- Consider completing an annual CNVC Certified Trainer Report (<http://www.cnvc.org/node/add/annual-trainer-report-expanded>)

- Please consider offering at least part of your trainer commission to CNVC to help support the cost of the CNVC certification program and related activities, as well as maintaining the CNVC website, record-keeping, referrals, supporting access and community connection for CNVC Certified Trainers.
 - If your NVC work in developing countries or other in-kind support limits your NVC income, please describe that kind of contribution in your CNVC Trainer Report for mutual celebration.
 - If you choose not to contribute to CNVC, we would appreciate knowing that you have consciously chosen this (by specifying zero contribution), so we aren't tempted to send you friendly reminders that you haven't yet contributed.
 - CNVC Certified Trainers may give up certification status at any time by informing CNVC in writing. A trainer who has withdrawn for a period of time and wishes to reinstate certification is requested to have a conversation with a CNVC representative.
